

ANTI-CORRUPTION POLICY

I. PURPOSE

MannKind Corporation (together with its subsidiaries, the “Company”) has implemented this policy for the purpose of ensuring compliance with the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977, as amended (the “FCPA”), the U.S. Travel Act, the U.S. Domestic Bribery Statute, the UK Bribery Act and all other anti-corruption laws and regulations applicable to the Company’s business anywhere in the world. This policy applies to all world-wide directors, officers, employees, and individuals serving as independent contractors of the Company or its subsidiaries. In addition, we expect our agents, consultants, representatives, lobbyists, suppliers/vendors, resellers, distributors, customs or other brokers, contractors, advisors, and other business partners to comply with the principles contained in this policy. Please report all questions or concerns to the Company’s Compliance Officer whose contact information appears below.

II. POLICY STATEMENTS

You are strictly prohibited from promising, offering, providing, or authorizing cash payments (such as bribes or kickbacks) or anything else of value directly or indirectly to any person to achieve an improper purpose related to the Company’s business.

You are strictly prohibited from requesting, agreeing to receive, or accepting money or anything else of value from any person to achieve an improper purpose related to the Company’s business.

You must comply with all of the Company’s internal controls, especially those designed to (i) ensure accurate and complete books and records or (ii) otherwise prevent corruption, self-dealing, embezzlement, fraud, money laundering, or other improper activities.

There are no exceptions to this policy, even if our competitors engage in improper behavior or corruption is an accepted practice in a country where we operate. You are required to adhere to both the spirit and the letter of this policy with respect to our business anywhere in the world.

III. ANTI-BRIBERY PROHIBITIONS

The FCPA and other anti-bribery/anti-corruption laws prohibit you and the Company from corruptly promising, offering, providing, or authorizing the provision of money or anything of value directly or indirectly to a government official and certain other persons to achieve an improper purpose. “Improper purposes” include:

- (i) influencing any act or decision of the recipient in his/her official capacity;
- (ii) inducing the recipient to do or omit to do any act in violation of his/her lawful duty;

- (iii) inducing the recipient to influence any act or decision of a government or instrumentality of a government, or
- (iv) securing any improper advantage, in order to obtain, retain, or direct regulatory approvals, contracts, business or other benefits.

The FCPA prohibits improper payments provided to officials of governments, state-affiliated entities, and political parties outside the United States. However, the provision of improper benefits to government or private-sector recipients within the United States will violate U.S. domestic bribery statutes.

In addition to the United States, almost all other countries, including Australia, Canada, China (Hong Kong), Germany, Singapore, and the United Kingdom, have promulgated their own anti-bribery legislation. Most of those countries prohibit making improper payments to government and private-sector recipients within their borders. However, several countries have also adopted legislation similar to the FCPA that prohibit improper payments outside those countries. The existence of all of these laws means that there is potential for a company or an individual to face liability in several countries for the same single act of corruption.

Given the broad prohibitions under the FCPA and other anti-corruption laws applicable to the Company, this policy prohibits bribes, kickbacks, and the provision of other improper benefits and advantages to any person, entity, or organization, including, but not limited to, employees, officials, representatives, or agencies of any

- (i) government;
- (ii) state-owned or affiliated entity, including, but not limited to, a state hospital, research institution, utility, public university, or sovereign wealth fund;
- (iii) public international organization such as the United Nations or the World Bank;
- (iv) political party, including the party itself as well as candidates for public office;
- (v) non-governmental organization, including a sports federation such as FIFA or the International Olympic Committee; or
- (vi) private-sector company.

One may be asked by certain parties to provide a bribe or other improper benefit in exchange for

- (i) the award of a contract, sponsorship opportunity, or other business;

- (ii) the issuance or renewal of a concession, license, or business, construction, or other permit or registration;
- (iii) the successful filing of a patent or trademark application;
- (iv) an impermissible reduction in duties or other taxes;
- (v) securing the purchase of state-owned land or other public assets;
- (vi) avoiding mandatory inspections;
- (vii) obtaining a favorable inspection result or court decision, even if the facts or circumstances do not support such a result; or
- (viii) the grant of some other improper advantage.

This policy prohibits you from providing bribes or other improper benefits to any person to achieve any of the above purposes.

A violation of this policy can occur even if the bribe fails to achieve the purpose for which it was intended. This means that a person can violate this policy if that person provides an improper payment or benefit to a recipient and the recipient does not grant any business or other advantage in return. In addition, the mere offer or promise of a bribe or other improper benefit is sufficient to cause a violation. All of the anti-bribery prohibitions contained in this policy apply irrespective of whether you use Company funds or your personal funds to finance improper payments or other benefits.

This policy also prohibits you from soliciting or accepting bribes, kickbacks, or other improper payments/benefits from the Company's vendors or other persons in relation to our business. For instance, a violation of this policy will occur if you cause the Company to overpay a vendor and that vendor then shares all or a portion of that overpayment with you.

This policy requires you to adhere to high ethical standards and to comply with all applicable laws in the course of performing services for the Company. FCPA and other anti-corruption violations typically involve circumstances that also result in violations of other laws, including those that address money laundering, embezzlement, fraud, export controls, and sanctions/embargoes. Guilty persons can face multiple charges based on the same set of facts.

IV. ACCOUNTING REQUIREMENTS

Our Company adheres to certain accounting requirements. Specifically, the Company must maintain books, records, and accounts, which, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the Company's transactions, expenses, and asset dispositions. Our Company is also committed to maintaining a system of internal accounting controls to provide reasonable assurances that transactions are properly authorized by management, executed, and recorded. This means that you must comply with our internal controls and avoid unauthorized activities or expenses.

Violations of the above accounting standards can occur if you conceal bribes or falsify other transactions or expenses, even if they are not related to a bribe, in the Company's ledgers or other records. Also, there is no materiality standard. This means that even small misreported amounts may result in violations.

The U.S. and other governments actively enforce the accounting requirements discussed above. In some cases, they have caused companies to pay hundreds of millions of dollars in fines and penalties for violating those requirements. Attachment 1 contains examples of potential accounting violations. Please study this list carefully and ensure that you, your colleagues, and the Company's vendors/contractors remain in compliance with these requirements. You must also cooperate with the Company's periodic audits and other efforts to ensure that our internal controls are being observed.

V. FACILITATING, EXPEDITING OR SPEED PAYMENTS

This policy prohibits all corrupt payments or benefits, including so-called grease, speed or facilitating payments provided to government officials in their personal capacity to expedite or secure routine government actions (collectively, "Facilitating Payments"). This prohibition applies notwithstanding the fact that the FCPA contains a narrow exemption that permits such Facilitating Payments.

Please note that in some cases, government agencies may impose official fees that may be paid directly in the name of a governmental entity or enterprise itself, as set out in published fee schedules or other official documents. These official government fees can be paid to expedite passports, licenses, or other services, provided that they are deposited in the treasury of a government, an official government receipt is collected, and the expense is accurately recorded in the Company's books. However, Facilitating Payments provided for the benefit of government officials in their personal capacity (i.e., are not deposited in an official treasury account belonging to a government) will violate this Policy.

VI. INTERMEDIARIES AND BUSINESS PARTNERS

This policy prohibits you from providing bribes or other improper benefits directly as well as indirectly through third parties or associated persons whether in or outside the United States. This risk can arise in cases where the Company works with agents, consultants, representatives, lobbyists, suppliers/vendors, resellers, distributors, customs or other brokers, contractors, advisors, other business partners, or anyone else that performs services for or on behalf of the Company (collectively "Intermediaries").

In certain cases, you and the Company can be held liable under the FCPA and other laws even if you do not expressly authorize an Intermediary to engage in corruption, but they do so anyway. This can occur if you (i) have actual knowledge or a firm belief that a person will engage in corruption or (ii) consciously disregard, deliberately ignore, or are willfully blind to the Intermediary's corrupt or improper practices. As a result, the Company must understand the ownership, identity of key personnel, reputation and role of its Intermediaries.

Given these risks, this policy forbids you from using or paying any Intermediary responsible for government or customer interactions unless (i) appropriate anti-corruption due diligence is performed and confirms that the Intermediary does not have a history or reputation for corruption or similar wrong doing, and (ii) the Intermediary has executed a written agreement containing anti-corruption compliance clauses. You must confer with the Company's Compliance Officer on appropriate due diligence measures and anti-corruption clauses.

Throughout any relationship with an Intermediary for which you are responsible, you must monitor their performance to ensure that they do not engage in activities that raise FCPA/corruption concerns. The Compliance Officer can guide you on the types of red flags that you should monitor before and after engaging an Intermediary.

This policy requires you to notify the Compliance Officer if you learn of any Company Intermediary or other contractor that engages in corrupt or other improper practices. Also, all payments to Intermediaries or other vendors must be accurately reported in our books and records in accordance with the accounting requirements discussed above.

VIII. GIFTS & HOSPITALITIES

The FCPA and other laws prohibit the provision or acceptance of money or things of value for corrupt or improper purposes. A violation of this prohibition is likely in instances where personal benefits are given or accepted in the course of negotiation or tender bid. However, reasonably priced gifts, meals, entertainment, travel, and other benefits provided for non-corrupt business promotion or goodwill purposes may be permissible under the FCPA and other anti-corruption laws in certain cases. For instance, a plastic pen, a t-shirt, a coffee mug, a paper weight, or a cap of moderate value and embossed with the Company's logo will generally not violate the FCPA. However, a fur coat, a car, or a vacation will raise FCPA and other anti-corruption concerns, especially if such benefits are provided to a government official or other person who is responsible for making decisions in relation to the Company's business.

In addition to complying with the FCPA, you must also ensure that the provision of a gift or other benefit does not violate local laws or policies that apply in the country where the recipient of the benefit is located. Some countries impose express limits on the value of gifts/benefits that a recipient can accept; other countries ban such gifts/benefits altogether even if given with no corrupt or improper intention.

You must obtain the approval of the Compliance Officer prior to providing gifts, meals, travel benefits, and other hospitalities to employees, officials, or agents of any government, political party, state-owned entity, public international organization, or customer of the company. The Compliance Officer will help you determine whether the provision of the benefit is permissible under the FCPA and local law. If the expense is approved, its value and business purpose must be recorded accurately in the Company's books. Cash gifts are strictly prohibited. Also, this policy prohibits you from providing gift cards or gift certificates that can easily be converted into cash.

IX. SPECIAL CONCERNS IN THE HEALTHCARE SECTOR

The healthcare sector has received significant attention with respect to anti-corruption concerns. Several leading companies in this industry have been the subject of investigations and other enforcement actions for violating anti-corruption laws. In light of this risk, it is important that you note the following:

- Improper payments made in exchange for clinical trial permits, product approvals, or other government permits are strictly prohibited by this policy.
- Researchers, doctors, other healthcare professionals, or certain other individuals may be considered government officials for purposes of the FCPA and other anti-corruption laws by virtue of their employment by government-affiliated hospitals, universities, laboratories, research institutions, or other organizations.
- Employees or officials of public international organizations such as the World Health Organization will be considered government officials for purposes the FCPA and other anti-corruption laws.
- In certain cases, private persons acting in an official capacity (such as a prime contractor) on behalf of a government hospital or other health agency or a public international organization could be viewed as government officials.
- Special care must be exercised when the Company retains doctors, other healthcare professionals, key opinion leaders, or government officials as conference representatives, advisory board members, investigators, consultants, or contractors, especially if their employers are current or prospective customers or regulators of the Company's business. Please confer with the Compliance Officer if you encounter this type of situation.

Anti-corruption concerns can arise in the context of research grants or sponsorships provided by the Company to persons or organizations at the request of, or otherwise affiliated with, government officials. No grant may be used to confer a personal benefit on a healthcare professional, other government official, or other person in exchange for regulatory approvals, business, or other improper advantages. Grant/sponsorship requests must be reviewed by the Compliance Officer to ensure that appropriate anti-corruption standards are followed.

X. OTHER ACTIVITIES

Corruption concerns can arise in a number of other cases including, but not limited to (i) joint ventures or teaming arrangements with public or private-sector partners; (ii) mergers and acquisitions, especially if the target business has significant government interactions or an international profile; or (iii) the provision of political or charitable contributions. Please confer with the Compliance Officer before engaging in these types of activities to ensure that appropriate anti-corruption compliance measures are observed.

XI. VIOLATIONS AND CONSEQUENCES

A violation of this policy will result in appropriate disciplinary action, including demotion, reassignment, additional training, probation, suspension, or even termination.

The FCPA is a criminal statute. Both the Company and you may be subject to substantial fines and penalties for violating these and other anti-corruption laws. In serious cases, you may face imprisonment for up to five years for each FCPA anti-bribery violation and up to 20 years for each FCPA accounting violation. In addition, the Company may face suspension or debarment from government contracts, the loss of U.S. export privileges, and certain other consequences. These results can be devastating to our business.

Anti-corruption enforcement has significantly increased in the United States. In addition, a number of other countries have strengthened their laws on this matter. This means that we can face liability across multiple jurisdictions for the same corrupt act.

XII. TRAINING AND MATERIALS

All designated personnel must undergo anti-corruption training provided by the Company. The nature, content, and frequency of that training will be determined by the Company based on your risk profile. We encourage all of our business partners to provide training to their personnel as well.

XIII. STATUS AND CERTIFICATION

This policy does not form part of any employment contract with you and may be amended at any time. This policy should be read in conjunction with the Company's Code of Conduct and other policies and procedures.

XIV. REPORTING/QUESTIONS

You have an affirmative obligation to report all violations of this policy to the Compliance Officer or General Counsel as follows:

You must also notify the Compliance Officer of any corrupt, improper, illegal, or other unusual requests for payments or other benefits made by customers, Intermediaries, vendors, business partners, government officials, or Company employees. By reporting such matters, you will enable us to explore options to achieve our business goals without having to interact with such persons or provide improper benefits.

We welcome any constructive comments or questions that you may have regarding the substance and implementation of this policy in your respective sector and/or territory. Please direct such communications to the Compliance Officer.
